Good News From Albania--Can Hold the Austrians.

With the nearer approach of spring, indications are multiplying of preparations for active campaigning on the various fronts. Such actual righting as is going on, however, while locally important, as that in France and Belgium, is apparently not indicative of the be-ginning as yet of any operations on a large scale.

The situation in the Balkans continues to excite marked interest, and there is increasing attention being given to developments in connection with Greece. The Allies, for their part, have made a new move in making a landing on the Karaburun peninula, near the head of the Gulf of Saloniki, occupying the Greek fort there. The move seems to have been dictated by strategic reasons, it being considered undestrable by the Entents forces to have the position in other hands than their own.

As to Greece herself, a dispatch from Teutonic sources carries the intimation that King Constantine and his closs advisers fear that she may be dragged into the war eventually through the influence of former Premier Vembelos with the Greak people, the idea of a revolutionary movement of a grave character not being absent from the minds of the ruler and his political and military sides.

Ocincidentally there are revived reports that a speedy advance on Selomiki is contemplated by the Tentonic Allies, and that Turk-ish forces, notably the Gallipoli army, see moving to positions where they will be ready to participate in the state. (Conflict of Page 11.)

Lord Bramwell

This is what the foremost men of Great Britain, Canada and the United States in the Church, on the Bench, in literature and public life have to say about Prohibition:

Read Their Very Words:

"When a law is flagrantly and habitually violated it brings legislation into contempt. It creates a lation into contempt. It creates a spirit of deception and hypocrisy, and compels men to do insidiously and by stealth what they would otherwise do openly and above board. You cannot legislate men by civil action into the performance of good and righteous deed."—Oardinal Gibbons.

"Prohibition drives under-ground the mischief which it seeks to cure, making it more difficult to deal with the evil and impossible to regulate the trade, as, for instance, in the quality of liquor sold."— Bishop Hall, Vermont.

"I cannot see the benefits to be derived from compulsory absti-nence. Rabid temperance workers have accomplished very little to-ward destroying the drink evil." —Bishop Grafton, Wisconsin.

"It is impracticable, and its violation is productive of hidden and shameful evils."—Bishop Gail-

"Preach temperance. Punish the drunkard. Punish the adulterator of pure spirits. But respect the rights and opinions of those who do not agree with you."

—Lord Bramwell.

Lord Bramwell.

"To drink is no sin. Jesus Christ drank. To keep a saloon is no sin. And any policy that claims the name of Christ, or does not claim His name, that deals with the well-nigh universal taste of man for alcohol on the basis of law and order alone, cannot commend itself to the best intelligence and is doomed to fail."—Rev. Dr. Rainsford, New York.

"The best safeguard against drunkenness is that drinking should be enjoyed openly."— —Rabbi Hirsch, Chicago.

Rev. Lyman

"The church of God has never declared the moderate use of alcohol to be a sin; this seems to be left with other things as open matters of Christian liberty."—The Rev. Canon West, D.D.

"When you enact a law intended to do more than it ought to do, it generally ends in doing less than it should do. For that reason I am opposed to prohibition by statute. I would rather see America free first and then have its citizens use its freedom for moral ends."—Rev. S. Parkes Gadman, Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N.Y.

"He (Christ) condemned drunk-enness, but never in a single in-stance lifted up His voice in con-demnation of drinking. On the contrary, He commenced His pub-lic ministry by making wine in con-siderable quantity, and of fine quality, and this apparently only to add to the joyous festivities of a wedding."—Rev. Lyman Abbott.

wedding."—Rev. Lyman Abbott.

"It is not in the power of Parliament by an Act of Parliament, to change the habits of the the people; and in all probability a law such as you propose (Temperance Bill), if it were to be passed, would fail absolutely and become a dead letter.

—The Rt. Hon. John Bright, M.P.

"I have been a great traveler and I have seen prohibition abound in the United States, and it only leads to drinking in more forms than under the old system."—Joseph Chamberlain, M.P.

Joseph Chamberlain, M.P.

"There have been passed by Congress and State Legislatures 65,000 laws in the last four years, and such a mass of legislation is an evil of burdensome proportions, as we are rapidly finding out. This excess of legislation I attribute to two causes. The first is the erroneous belief that any reform can be accomplished merely by legislation; and the second is that legislation; and the second is that legislations are prone to enact laws, not because they believe their enforcement will do any good, or because they had their enforcement in mind, but only because their votes would profit them politically."—Ex-President Tatt.

"Prolibition has been disas."

"Prohibition has been disa trous to the cause of temperance. —Bishop Clark, Rhode Island.

"The use of alcoholic liquors is and has always been considered n only legitimate as a beverage, but it is consecrated and hallowed in the most solemn and weighty rite of the Christian Church. Now you cannot, by a mere law, eradicate a sentiment and destroy an institution that has stood for ages, and that is so deeply rooted in our social life."—Rev. W. A. Wasson, New Vork

"So long as an immense body of citizens of all orders and sorts choose to use alcohol, think it right to do so, and cannot be shown to offend their neighbors whilst doing so with moderation, it would be tyrannical to punish or forbid the consumption of any food which an orderly adult thinks it desirable and right to take."—Frederic Harrison.

"While I recognize the evils of the liquor traffic, I am nevertheless driven to the conviction that prohibition will be a failure in the attempt to cope with such evils. Inmany states it is already a failure, the net results of such legislation being to multiply illicit bars, and at the same time to deprive the commonwealth of the revenue accruing from license."—Right Rev. P. J. Donohue, Roman Catholic Bishop, Wheeling, W. Va.

"I resist this bill because it is a violation of the voluntary principle. Because it is defended by the old arguments by which fanatics and persecutors in all ages have sought to propagate religious opinion. The right of one human being to coerce others into belief, as is now sought to coerce them into temperance, has been tried a thousand times and has failed, as this attempt will fail."—Hon. Joseph Howe, Nova Scotia.

"We hear a good deal about compelling men to be good—fore-tible, collective action to improve the individual—and many of these forces are wise and good. But free-dom is the greatest privilege of man—the right to work out his own destiny. It is also best for the general public."—Ex-President Chas. W. Eliot, of Harvard.

"Prohibition can remove ope temptation from the young and from persons disposed to alcoholic It is practically helpless AYCARR. against 'dives,' 'pocket-peddlers' and all the well known varieties of secret temptation which have such a fascination for the young. Stolen waters are sweet. Still less can it subdue that desire for some stimu-lant which is all but universal in lant which is all but universal in human nature, and which, when ordinary means of gratification are denied, finds relief in opium, morphine, chloral and drugs. We are told that laws educate in the right direction. Not unless they are based on reason and on equity. Now the reason of mankind has spoken emphatically against prohibition. It is essentially class legislation, and that always provokes hatred."—Ex. Chancellor Grant, Queen's University.

"You may pass a thousand prohibition laws and you may put around the subject of its use or its sale safeguards that are as thick as barbed wire entanglements, but people will get over them. A great deal of temperance legislation has come from a kind of moral cowardice. I oppose that kind of legislation because it is impractical, because it does not prohibit. I oppose it because it is unjust to the minority upon whom a measure of this kind may, by law, be fastened."—Hon. John W. Griggs, Former Governor of New Jersey.

"Nothing can be better proved than that to carry into effect laws of this kind in a free country you must have the conscience of the people thoroughly and actively with you. Will they do their best to throw into jall and ruin a neighbor, otherwise harmless, perhaps a friend or acquaintance, for selling or drinking a glass of whiskey or ale? Besides, there are other intoxicants, such as opium and chloral, the use of which would be likely to increase when liquor was withdrawn." — Goldwin Smith, Formar President of the Liberal Temperance Union.

"The prohibition law in Canada and the United States is a gross and ludierous imposture."—Justin McCarthy, M. P.
